VOLUNTEERING

Volunteering is allowed (and encouraged!) and the McGill School of Continuing Studies can help students find an organization where they would be able to contribute.

This is a great opportunity allowing students to connect with the Montreal community, to learn about local culture, and to discover a unique part of Canadian society. This would be an intrinsic part of your Canadian experience.

Once admitted to McGill, please feel free to contact us for more information either before or after your arrival in Canada.
